

On My Way

Song — to sing together

VERSE 1

Stop a moment in the morning, there's someone you don't know yet —
the person you could be today,
if you let them in.

Carry your doubts like a coat,
you're allowed to take it off when it grows heavy.
Beneath the lining breathes
a sentence that belongs only to you.

PRE-CHORUS

Don't confuse your calm for surrender,
your restlessness for failure.
Sometimes that discomfort is just the space
that stretches itself toward you, exhaling.

CHORUS

I am on my way,
not yet where I want to be —
but no longer where
I didn't fit.

I fall forward,
I don't give up.
What I do as if it's nothing
saves someone's day.

I am visible.
I am on my way.

VERSE 2

Don't repeat what empties you, what breaks you down inside.
Speak softly what sustains you,
whisper what you seek.

One small step,
or just permission —
from the person within yourself who already knows who you are.

PRE-CHORUS

Don't confuse your calm for surrender,
your restlessness for failure.
Sometimes that discomfort is just the space
that stretches itself toward you, exhaling.

CHORUS

I am on my way,
not yet where I want to be —
but no longer where
I didn't fit.

I fall forward,
I don't give up.
What I do as if it's nothing
saves someone's day.

I am visible.
I am on my way.

BRIDGE

(softer, intimate, almost spoken)

And when you stumble —
fall forward.
Don't write off the evening,
write only this:

I am on my way.
Not yet where I want to be,
but no longer where
I didn't fit.

Your talent is already there.
It was waiting for you.
Make yourself visible —
for yourself first, then the world.

FINAL CHORUS

I am on my way,
not yet where I want to be —
but no longer where
I didn't fit.

I fall forward,
I don't give up.
What I do as if it's nothing
saves someone's day.

I am visible.
I am on my way.
